Keep things simple

TechnologyOne Publisher is ideal for generating monthly, quarterly or similar reports like performance reviews, which may contain text, tables, financial reports, charts, indicators, images and photos.

Most organisations spend many hours every month compiling reports. If the reports are purely numbers, TechnologyOne's XLOne Reporting tool is an excellent means of producing these reports, however most reports require words and images around the numbers.

Right now you are probably producing these reports by manually transferring the information and distributing it throughout the organisation for comments and updates. This is not an efficient process and results in a document becoming the key source of your information, rather than simply an output mechanism.

Wouldn't it be nice if you could:

- Leverage the strengths of MS Excel to facilitate the production of numeric information into MS Word, MS PowerPoint and PDF documents;
- Capture the comments and conversations around this information and workflow these conversations throughout the organisation for approval;
- Include these conversations in the finished report;
- Automate the process of generating your reports into high quality formatted documents.

Publisher allows you to do exactly that!

It automates the process of generating reports into MS Word, MS PowerPoint and PDF, and when combined with TechnologyOne's Performance Planning, you can also capture your workflow comments around periodically published information and generate this into high quality published reports.

Word should be your output document, not your input document.

One touch production of all your reports – there are endless opportunities where Publisher can save you time.

Manage and improve your publication with easy-to-use tools.

You no longer have to wait for your IT department to get you the reports you need, by empowering the business user to publish documents instantly.

Publisher also gives users ability to embed images and objects into documents and empowers users to develop reports with drag-and-drop functionality. It can also extract information directly from databases, including Performance Planning, and display this in reports.

Automate, simplify and save valuable time and money

Using Publisher, documents and presentations can be generated into a format that is ready to be presented. It enables the user to identify and automatically place Excel grids and charts into a report.

Publisher also enables you to run updated XLOne reports as part of the publishing process so that information is refreshed as you run your reports.

Share your publication with confidence

No more cut and paste or re-keying of figures. No more double checking that everything reconciles between pages.

'Smart' tools ensure consistent formatting of information that is inserted, including 'place holders' for tables, to ensure that they do not exceed pre-defined page sizes.

Publisher is able to extract the required content from the following sources:

- XLOne reports
- MS Excel workbooks 1997 – 2010 (.xls;.xlsx)
- MS Excel charts 1997 – 2010 (.xls;.xlsx)
- MS Word documents 1997 – 2010 (*.doc; *.docx)
- MS PowerPoint slides PowerPoint 2007 – 2010 (*.pptx)
- Images and photos
- Direct database queries (when used with Business ETL).

Publisher can output content into the following formats:

- MS Word 1997 – 2010 (*.doc; *.docx)
